Astrology, Spiritual & Genealogy in Sydney, NSW Astrology Spot features the work of astrologer, Christine Broadbent. You can highlight the flash signs and learn about yourself and friends. Explore your transit cycles and planetary influences. You will also find general information including the mythic story of your planetary ruler, your colours, herbs and foods for health. You will also find archives of Christine's extensive writing. These will be added to over time. Christine offers a comprehensive astrology service. You can order a printed report or an email report or contact Christine for a personal reading. Christine loves her work as an astrologer and feels privileged to be working in this field. She has had 25 years' experience as a professional astrologer, counselling, writing and presenting her insights into this fascinating subject. As a teacher, she takes many people on the exciting journey of discovery that astrology opens. Exploring the self-knowledge and secrets of timing provided by the personal birth chart is her speciality. With an academic background in sociology of knowledge, Christine brings social and psychological insights to her astrology consultations and presentations. Since convening an international astrology and healing conference in New Zealand in 1996, Christine lives in both Sydney and Auckland, commuting on a three monthly basis. In Australia, you will find her regular Stargazing Column and occasional feature article in WellBeing Magazine. Her current passion is working on a PhD on astrology at Massey University in Auckland.
