School in Pullenvale, QLD Making the choice to believe that a BIS Integral education can be so much more than what you see in a standard classroom can be a big decision. It requires you to consider a range of questions: What matters most to you about your child's primary education? Should a child be considered as individual with ideas, rights and insights that should be valued? What is the purpose of education? What is the philosophy of other systems? How do they compare? Can education be more than what you experienced? Brisbane Independent School's mission is to nurture, develop and trust our pupils' innate love of learning and positive values. This is a big mission and requires a lot of thought and process to make it happen because it is based around our Values. This mission produces graduates who are respectful, confident, competent and self-motivated, with the skills necessary for life-long learning in all facets of their lives. Brisbane Independent School is based around a philosophy of education for the purpose of development of a well-grounded child who can develop into an adult who is capable of achieving his/her hopes and dreams. To do this we believe that every moment of our life is a learning experience that sees us engage with the world from our individual learning style, personality type and perspectives. To apply this philosophy to the whole school means that every element of the school is chosen to enhance the growth and development of the individual along a developmental continuum that encompasses cognitive, moral, ego, physical, social and emotional as well as psychological development.
