Orbit have been building outstanding new homes for families in Victoria and Queensland for more than 35 years, so we have a thorough understanding of your need for a very individual home that suits your lifestyle expectations.

If you select one of our existing designs, you can call on our talented team of sales consultants, builders, architects and interior designers to help you put your own imprint on that design so it reflects your personal style.

You can also tap into our experience, craftsmanship and expertise to build a new home using your own existing plans – or simply contribute your ideas as we develop a unique new design together. Our whole team is at your service.
