Hospital in Brisbane, QLD Royal Brisbane and Women's Hospital (RBWH) is a quaternary and tertiary referral teaching hospital located at the Metro North Hospital and Health Service (MNHHS) Herston site, close to the Brisbane CBD. RBWH provides state-of-the-art health care services for more than one-tenth of all patient services in Queensland. The hospital participates in world-leading research and education in pursuit of excellence in specialized care to deliver the best possible patient outcomes. Partnerships with more than 14 Queensland and national universities, three TAFE providers and a collaboration with the Australian Defence Force (ADF) are key to RBWH developing our future clinical (allied health, medical, nursing) and non-clinical workforce focussing on safe, quality patient outcomes. RBWH has 929 beds and in the year 2015 employed on average 5990 multi-disciplinary staff with 100,149 patients admitted. Inpatient and outpatient services provided over the 2015 calendar year included: 74,399 emergency department presentations; 17,369 elective surgery procedures; 4124 babies delivered; and 469,179 outpatient appointments. Royal Brisbane and Women's Hospital is a part of Queensland Health's community, the state's largest healthcare provider. We are committed to ensuring all Queenslanders have access to a range of public healthcare services aimed at achieving good health and well-being. Through a network of 16 Hospital and Health Services, as well as the Mater Hospitals, Queensland Health delivers a range of integrated services including hospital inpatient, outpatient and emergency services, community and mental health services, aged care services and public health and health promotion programs.
