Graphic design in Melbourne, VIC We are Yoke, a creative agency based in Melbourne and Bendigo offering exceptional graphic design, web design, digital, branding, and media services. We are web designers, graphic designers, creatives and account service pros. Yoke is a multifunctional creative agency based inside an old brick building in Collingwood, Melbourne. We work across design, digital, brand and media. We love function and purpose as much as beauty and creativity, and call on them all to help us make great ideas that look the business. We also love coffees. Our approach to each project is the same. We listen carefully, ask the right questions and don't ask them twice. Then we sit down and think hard about the answers before we do anything else – maybe get a coffee first though. The work we produce is all the better for it. Our design is tasked and our brands have stories. We know how to engage, inform and entice response from those you seek through meaningful messages delivered in new and interesting ways. From design work to websites, brands and beyond, if you have a project that we might be able to help with or an idea you would like to discuss then we'd love to hear from you. Don't hesitate to send us a message or get in touch via our Twitter or Facebook if you're feeling social.
