What is Sports Clinic NQ? Sports Clinic NQ is a primary care clinic (no referral necessary) which is almost exclusively sports based. It is an accredited ultrasound and injection service. This makes it the only primary care sports medicine centre with ultrasound facilities in Queensland. Injections such as cortisone, polidocanol, PRP, blood and prolotherapy can be performed without referral. Recreational and occupational / commercial dive medicals can also be performed. Sports Clinic NQ was founded to provide active people and athletes of any level or age group in North Queensland with high level care specific to their needs. Informed and educated decision making is vital to optimal health outcomes. During a consult at SCNQ you will be given education regarding your injury or illness and options discussed. You will be given the necessary information to make your own decision about what treatment options you would like to pursue.
