Hotel in Melbourne, NSW Since the 1880's The East in all its forms has been a favorite of Brunswick locals. After a break, the Lygon Street beauty has been lovingly and painstakingly patched, fixed and restored with more than a nod to its rock and roll past. Whilst the band room has gone, the Hotel now comprises 12 individually themed hotel rooms, public bar, private cellar bar and upstairs cocktail bar and balcony. The menu at the East Brunswick Hotel is inspired by traditional pub fare. There's a parma to suit carnivores or vegans. If an eating challenge is more your thing, try a Trailer Trash roll laden with pulled pork and mac 'n cheese. There is plenty to share or a variety of food straight from our wood-fired char-grill. A carefully considered drinks offering is available with an extensive wine cellar, nine beers on tap and a strong list of bottled beer and cider to be enjoyed straight from the schooner or the neck. And if you know your whiskey from your whisky, you'll be able to try them all at the East. We haven't left out the cocktail drinkers either with specialist bartenders upstairs from Thursday to Sunday night. Are you in the mood to party like a rock star, or would you rather ponder the point of "The Old Man and the Sea"? Do you love the smell of napalm in the morning, or do you know that history will be kind to you because you intend to write it? The East Brunswick Hotel has 12 individually themed hotel rooms over 2 levels named after someone reflected in the design of the room. Each room has a full-size Smeg fridge, convection oven, and dishwasher. The larger suites have separate living and sleeping areas. Please Note: We are currently experiencing some noise issues due to ongoing construction work in the vicinity of our building. We apologize for any inconvenience caused, but unfortunately, this is out of our control at present. Our staff will endeavor to keep you informed about the status of the noise issues at the time of your booking.
